

Mar 15, 23 11:54

toupr.s

Page 1/1

```

/
 * toupr.s
 * PARAMETERS: X0 (INPUT STRING OF SIZE N)
 * OUTPUT      : X0 (STRING, CONVERTED)
 * The purpose of this function is to convert all lowercase letters
 * to uppercase.
 * ALL REGISTERS PRESERVED EXCEPT X0
 */

.text
.global toupr
    toupr:
        stp x19,x20, [sp, -16]! // pushing x19 and x20 to stack pointer mov x19, #-1           // setting increment b    toUprLoop         // branch to 'toUprLoop' toUprConvert:
        sub w20, w20, #32      // converts the char from lowercase to uppercase strb w20, [x0, x19]    // storing byte in w0 string toUprLoop:
        add x19, x19, #1       // x19++ ldrb w20, [x0, x19]    // load byte from str and post increment cmp w20, #0            // compare loaded byte and null b.eq toUprEnd          // if null, goto 'toUprEnd' cmp w20, #'a'          // if char is less than 'a'... b.lt toUprLoop         // then return to toUprLoop cmp w20, #'z'          // else, if w20 is less than 'z' b.le toUprConvert      // you're lowercase, so go to the convert label b    toUprLoop         // you're one of the few weird chars, go back to upr :)
    toUprEnd:
        ldp x19, x20, [sp], 16 // popping x19 and x20 from stack ret lr                 // return to caller

```